PLOT: Inspector Giovanni Sanzio has been sent from the South to a little town in the Friuli region of Italy to investigate the disappearance of a six-year-old girl. During his investigation, the body of a beautiful young woman is found on the side of a lake.

Giovanni is a brilliant man, with a vivid, yet private character. He has a daughter and has a mentally ill wife who lives in an asylum. With methodical precision, Giovanni searches for the facts surrounding the killing and delves into the private lives of the people investigated. His investigation is at once practical and existential, Not only he will find the killer but also the answers to all his questions.

“The Girl By The Lake” has been the best Italian movie shown at the January-2008 Palm Springs International Film Festival.
